Subject: Microsoft Settlement

A prime example of the need for campaign finance reform. If Microsoft is not a monopoly, what is? I would like to have an alternative to the "blue screen of death" and debugging Microsoft's software for them, but I guess that is too much to ask. All Microsoft has to do is stall and put in an administration more to it's liking and it's like nothing happened. Violate the law at will. Call the judge crazy. Everything is for sale. Including justice. Pathetic. And they settle with the states by giving them money and software. Theirs! Now their own marketing is part of the settlement! You ought to be ashamed and embarrassed!

After the election fiasco, we found out that the Supreme Court is biased. Now we know the Justice Dept can be bought. Disgusting!
